ABANDON PLANS TO ADJOURN TONIGHT

Report on Revenue Bill May Not Be Ready Before Friday

MAY ADJOURN SATURDAY

Conferees Leave Much of Emergency Measure for Consideration Today

FILIBUSTER IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Plans of administration leaders to adjourn congress tomorrow night were abandoned tonight when the conference committee on the emergency revenue bill indicated that it could not reach an agreement until some time tomorrow at the earliest. There is a possibility that the report may not be ready before Friday and that adjournment may be delayed until Saturday.

Altho the conferees worked far into the night much of the bill was left for consideration tomorrow morning. Senator Simmons chairman of the senate conferees said he believed an agreement would be reached in time for presentation to the house soon after it meets at noon. But the revenue bill is not all that is delaying adjournment. In the senate a filibuster has developed against the passage of the corrupt practices act, and various senators are clamoring for consideration of minor bills. The general deficiency bill still is being held up in conference until a report on the revenue measure has been made and in addition to these obstacles, leaders of both houses expect that general debate on the revenue bill conference report will occupy many hours.

Senator Kern, the majority leader, said after reviewing the situation that he did not look for adjournment before Saturday. Some of his colleagues however, insisted that nothing could hold congress later than Friday night if the revenue bill was disposed of by that time. Altho Senator Owen is keeping up a fight on the corrupt practices bill there is a general understanding among the leaders that no vote will be taken because that would result in calling back to Washington a quorum of the house and postpone adjournment indefinitely.

After an all day discussion of the revenue bill the conferees had not completed consideration of amendments to income tax section when they adjourned for dinner.

Administrative features of the income tax provisions were the stumbling block. They had settled the rates of taxation however, and agreed finally that the normal tax on incomes should be two percent and that the senate amendments increasing the surtaxes on large incomes should be retained in the bill. After dinner the conferees resumed their work determined to speed up with a view to reaching a complete agreement sometime tomorrow morning if possible.

Consideration of the senate amendments empowering the president to retaliate against British interference with American trade and American mails had been discussed indefinitely.

There was no disposition to eliminate any of the provisions which have aroused diplomatic views of the allied powers in Washington but it was stated that one of the amendments might be revised.

SENATE REJECTS DIXON WILLIAMS AS POSTMASTER AT CHICAGO

Rejection is voted at request of Senator Lewis

Washington, Sept. 6.—The senate today rejected the nomination of Dixon C. Williams to be postmaster at Chicago. Rejection was voted at the request of Senator Lewis. Mr. Williams was nominated April 22nd, as a compromise candidate after a long dispute between Democratic leaders in Chicago and the members of the Illinois congressional delegation were not satisfied with the selection.

Senator Lewis said tonight he would consult with political friends in Illinois before pressing any recommendation for a new appointment.

Williams Expected Confirmation

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Dixon C. Williams tonight declined to comment on the senate's rejection of his nomination for postmaster of Chicago beyond saying he had expected the nomination to be confirmed.

Mr. Williams was reached at the Democratic national headquarters here. When asked who had proposed his name for the place he said, "For the life of me I don't know."

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Fred Hague, a policeman and James J. Flynn, a chauffeur, were arrested today on charges of robbery and held under $10,000 bonds each for preliminary examination on Sept. 14th. According to Goldberg he and Mrs. Bennett were in an automobile on the South Side. They were on a street which was undergoing repairs. Another automobile came behind them and ordered them to hurry out of the narrow roadway. Goldberg represented the order whereupon the chauffeur and policeman jumped from their machine, in which was a woman companion, and beat and robbed Goldberg and Mrs. Bennett, according to Goldberg's allegations.

Goldberg alleges $85 was taken from him and a diamond ring valued at $150 from Mrs. Bennett.

This is what was reported, would include the revision of the stamp taxes, the conferees are expected to agree to a suggestion of house members that the net profit tax of manufacturers of munitions of war be increased from 10 to 12 1/2 per cent.

The proposed stamp taxes, now eliminated, included bonds, debentures and certificates of stock of sale, conveyances, warehouse and custom house receipts, foreign steamship tickets and Pullman car tickets.

At midnight the conference was reported to be in practical agreement on all vital provisions of the bill altho it was declared that working out of details of report could

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 6.—If distance of the American expeditionary force, General Pershing's soldiers may join troops of the de facto government in an offensive campaign to exterminate the bandit and his followers. This was the statement of General Funston this afternoon.

There has been no agreement between Mexican and American military men for a concentrated movement against Villa. General Francisco Gonzales, Carranza commander in Northern Chihuahua already has sent a force against the bandit last reported in the Santa Clara canyon and if the occasion arises the American commander might take part in the pursuit.

"That is up to General Pershing," said General Funston.

Army men pointed out that General Pershing entered Mexico to capture Villa and that his object had not been accomplished. A long code message went forward late this afternoon from General Funston to General Pershing.

One hundred and twenty motor trucks bearing the members of the first and second Kansas infantry and their equipment, left Eagle Pass, Texas, this afternoon for this city. The trucks are being tested as troop carriers. The trip of 175 miles will be completed by tomorrow night, it is expected.

Judge Landis continued the hearing until Friday.

Declair's Road Will Not Comply With Law Until Ordered to do so by the United States Supreme Court.—Terms Law An Advance in Wages.

He declared the so-called 8-hour law was nothing more than an advance of 20 to 25 per cent in wages to the men who receive the most money in the railway service.

Mr. Ripley's statement follows:

"Congress hastily acting under a threat of four leaders of labor organizations, enacted a co-called 8-hour law, which is nothing more or less than an advance of twenty to twenty five per cent in the wages of the best paid men in the railway service. It is only fair to the public and to our employees to say that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway company does not intend to comply with the law until ordered to do so by the court of the United States."

where the clergy and their families congregate. Marked changes in the churches in that respect are expected by many of the clergy within the next fifteen years, at the end of which period, they believe, women seeking ordination will have increased four fold.

From England comes the interesting news of a similar wind in the air. A prominent London clergymen Rev. Percy Dearman, has joined the advocates of a proposal that women shall be allowed to preach in the Anglican Church. The proposal has already once been voted down by a majority of bishops. Many other denominations in England, however, already accept women preachers, and the barrier set by the more conservative Anglicans is expected to crumble down in time also before the onslaught of modern tendencies.

Prof. Lippincott's Good Work

Prof. W. A. Lippincott of the Kansas college of agriculture at Manhattan, and who is now visiting his parents here, is a prominent educator who can give testimony as to the value of little things. The language is not quite correct, either, because the poultry industry was once rated as among the little or incidental things in connection with animal husbandry, but that day has passed. Statistics show that the poultry products of this country yearly exceed in value the entire wheat crop and are greater than the combined value of all the gold, silver, iron and copper mined in this country.

Ministers quite frequently are within their rights and acting for the best interests of their churches and the people at large by taking some active part in politics—that is, where moral questions are concerned. But in a primary election, such as is now occupying the attention of the people, the church or the ministers in an organized way have no good reason for taking part. The endorsement of any candidate or candidates would tend to lessen the influence of the church.

Mr. Russel Favors State Control of Private Banks

That the candidacy of Andrew Russel for state auditor is receiving increasing favorable attention is indicated by the news article which appeared in the Tribune yesterday commenting on the fact that Mr. Russel had come out strongly for state control of private banks. Mr. Russel has been a private banker for so many years and has been so prominently identified with the financial affairs of the state that his position on this question is important, and as the Tribune suggests, will have its influence in the present contest for the state auditor's office.

In Chicago this statement will be taken with special significance because there are thousands of people who recently lost funds in the Silver bank failure. This was a private institution and the investigation conducted since the failure has shown how the depositors were duped. Such losses could not have occurred under proper state supervision. So Mr. Russel's statement with reference to the need of state control for private banks will strike it as that the poultry industry has over the production of cattle and hogs is that the risks are less and that persons with small capital, whether residents of the city or country, may become producers.

While Prof. Lippincott's investigations have been along scientific lines the results have been of a most practical kind and the benefits have not been limited to the people of Kansas, for his text book, "Poultry Production," is now used in thirty-five of the leading universities and colleges in the country where poultry departments have part in the courses of study offered. Prof. Lippincott is one of a group of men who might be mentioned whose work has brought them into desirable prominence and have thus reflected credit upon their home state.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Mrs. Adeline Gosselin, 73 years old, the mother of ten children, recently took the veil of the Sisters of St. Joseph, at Nazareth Academy, LaGrange, Ill. The occasion brought together sixty-five members of the aged nun's family from the United States and Canada, among whom were two of her daughters who are nuns and the superiors of Catholic convents, and several other nuns and priests who were granddaughters or nephews and nieces Archbishop Munden of Chicago assisted by eleven priests officiated at the remarkable event.

Women and the Pulpit
The devotional exercises at the Suffragists' convention at Atlantic City this week are led exclusively by women, a fact which has given many of the clergy food for thought. What effect will the advance of woman's suffrage have upon the ministerial profession? Will it mean that women in larger numbers will apply for entrance into the ministry? These and like questions are agitating clergymen of various denominations and form the basis of discussion at summer colonies.

CONTENTMENT.

Contentment isn't often seen where men have bundles of long green. The more a man requires, it seems, the more does worry haunt his dreams, and every millionaire I know looks like a cheap tintype of woe. I have a friend who once was broke; then he considered life a joke; he filled the air with gaudy song, and no one laughed so loud or long. It was a joy to meet him then; he was a tonic to sad men. But fortune slipped around by stealth, and loaded him with unearned wealth. He comes to see me now and then—I wish he'd never come again—and talks so much of dole and gloom, of properties that ceased to boom, of plants requiring ready cash, investments which have gone kersmash, the grief that capital endures, the grief no legislature eases—he talks so much along this line, and puts up such a bitter whine, when that he leaves my humble door my feet are chilled, my heart is sore. Your wealth will buy a lot of things; all kinds of luxuries it brings, but you can't take it to the mart, and buy a glad, contented heart.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

September 7, 1747.—The king of France issued a general pardon and amnesty for soldiers who had deserted their posts in America. Soldiers from the garrison in Illinois deserted more frequently than those of any other post, since Illinois was farthest inland.

The pupil who made the highest grade in the last term in New York's high schools and headed the names of scholarship winners was a little Italian immigrant girl, Louise Vigan, whose percentage for the four years she was in high school was 96. Louise is 16 years old and was born in Southern Italy, being brought to America by her parents when she was three years old. The ambitious little "dago" intends to enter Hunter College next fall, specifying in languages, for which she has a surprising aptitude, and later become a teacher of languages.

Miss Edna Marie Beckett, a Detroit girl of seventeen, has been recruiting men for the U. S. army and navy in that city, and brought in an average of three recruits a day for some time past, thereby beating any one engaged in the same work in Detroit. The girl's remarkable work has been wholly voluntary, and was inspired, she says, by the reading of Maxim's "Defenseless America." She first went out among her friends, seeking out all the families where there were young men, and met with such success that she next went out on the street distributing at street corners cards given her by the U. S. recruiting bureau. The "Little Major," as the Detroit army and navy men call the young girl, says the work is particularly exhilarating when she "captures a pacifist."

Miss Madeleine Z. Doty, who has sailed for Europe to investigate the condition of the children of Germany for the Fund for Starving Children, is a successful writer and lawyer and has been identified with Thomas Mott Osborne and G. W. Kirchwey in the prison reform movements in New York State. She is one of the leaders of the Woman's Peace Party in the United States, and was one of the delegates with Jane Addams to the Women's Peace Congress at the Hague last year. While in Germany she will act as correspondent for the New York Tribune and the Chicago Tribune.

When girl freshmen arrive at Madison to attend the University of Wisconsin this fall they will find upper class women to greet them. The upper class women have issued a booklet which tells of the ideals of university women, of the societies and other women's activities and contain advice about the work of the first-year women. In brief, everything will be done by the wise seniors to take from the little freshmen's mind and heart that "lost" feeling.

PREVENTS RAPID SEDIMENTATION

Ordinary oil breaks down under the terrific heat of an automobile engine. Within a few hours black sediment forms around particles of carbon left over remaining liquid from the friction points where lubrication is most vital. Such under-supply of oil causes friction between the metal surfaces, intense heat, loss of power and expensive repairs.

The new lubricant that resists heat prevents rapid sedimentation, insures general lubrication and, except where mechanical faults exist, prevents carbon.

WHITE HALL

The work of marking the Big Four between Montezuma and Greenfield is now in progress, and will be completed before the date of the second annual good roads picnic at Glasgow on September 14. This event will celebrate the completion of the trail, which extends from Terre Haute to Kansas City, the marking through this section having been delayed a year on account of differences between officials of the trail.

The Pi Gamma Fraternity held a meeting at the home of Henry Hemken on last Friday evening, the 1st inst., and the members entered enthusiastically into a discussion of the White Hall Chautauqua for the coming year, and agreed to President Carlos Campbell's suggestion that the number of guarantors' tickets to be taken by the Fraternity be increased. This club of young men sold more tickets than any other person or organization this season and their name headed the list of guarantors. The fraternity comprises twelve members, of whom four are away to school and more are expected to go soon.

The Pike County Co-operative Association will hold the annual convention at Pearl on Thursday, October 12th, and already arrangements are being energetically forwarded. The lodges of Pike and adjoining counties will join in the occasion, and there will be an address by Grand Master J. J. Crowder.

Owen Clark is no better. He has been ill with typhoid fever for three weeks. His brother Ira was down from Manchester Tuesday.

Miss Nellie Davis returned to St. Louis Monday after spending a pleasant two weeks with home folks.

Dr. L. O. Frech arrived home Monday from his stay in New York City. He spent two months in taking an advanced course in the diseases of children, and the last month he had the honor of serving with the staff of the hospital, and had the privilege of observing five hundred cases of infantile paralysis. The course is a valuable one, and Dr. Frech took full advantage of this opportunity to further equip himself for the profession to which he is ardently devoted. His family remained here during his absence.

The Roodhouse Record very appropriately calls attention to a disgraceful condition of a piece of highway between Roodhouse and White Hall and says: "The road between these two cities carries more automobile travel than any stretch of road of similar length in this section and yet the sharp corner turning east a couple of hundred yards after crossing the C. & A. railroad, going south, is a most dangerous turn, simply because the overseer of that road has failed to do his duty and clear it out. The Roodhouse commissioner has worked even below his boundary line, and helped matters that far, but it seems that no effort is being made to look after this specially dangerous corner. The autoists of Roodhouse and White Hall should get together and give notice to the proper official that this condition should be remedied and then see to it that the duty is performed before some accident occurs."

RUSSEL OUT FOR STATE CONTROL IN PRIVATE BANKS

Treasurer Who Wants to be Auditor
Believes Owners Would Welcome Change.

(Chicago Tribune)

The Republican contest for state auditor took a sudden new twist last night with the announcement from Andrew Russel, present state treasurer, that he is for state supervision of private banks. As a candidate for state auditor and as a private banker himself for forty-two years his statement took on more than passing interest, as a political proposition, he said:

"If the law provided for the naming of expert, disinterested men as head of the banking department and as bank examiners, opposition to state supervision would disappear."

"I am satisfied the private bankers of the state would welcome a change from the present system. Certainly the other bankers who are subjected to supervision would be relieved greatly if they could be assured that hereafter the head of the banking department and the bank examiners would be qualified experts."

Auditorship Fight Warms Up.

The contest for the auditorship is running close to the five angled fight for attorney general and to the complex scrap for secretary of state in Republican political interest.

George A. Smith of Chicago, who polled more than 100,000 votes in the primary four years ago, is now figured as a serious contender and may overturn much of the earlier "dope." There are ten candidates in the going. All ten are now in Chicago searching for votes.

Munro Assails All Rivals.

The five candidates for attorney general fired away at each other, some in speeches, others in statements. Fayette S. Munro in a speech at Springfield charged that Senator Barr has spent $300,000 in his campaign, and banging at Wilson, Provine and Brundage.

Senator Barr announced that he will begin noonday meetings tomorrow in the loop with a speech at the Garrick theater. Walter M. Provine will make a speech tonight at Govan hall, Broadway and Wilson avenue. He said:

"I find the people here are intensely interested in nonslate candidates."

Edward J. Brundage, backed by the regular organization, spoke at five ward meetings last night. George H. Wilson, carrying the support of the Anti-Saloon league, also was at a half dozen meetings.

MARRIAGE OF MRS. DOOLITTLE AND HARRY MYERS IN HANNIBAL

Will Reside in Mt. Sterling Where
Groom is Proprietor of a Moving Picture Theater

Mrs. Cora Doolittle went Wednesday forenoon to Hannibal, Mo., via the 10:05 o'clock Wabash and Wednesday evening she was to be married to Harry Myers of Mt. Sterling, who up until a few months ago was also a resident of Jacksonville. Mr. Myers and his bride expected to leave the same evening for St. Louis and there to visit relatives for a few days before returning to Mt. Sterling, where the former has for some time been proprietor of a moving picture theater.

Mrs. Doolittle has spent her life in Jacksonville and St. Louis and has in both cities a wide circle of friendship. Mr. Myers was long a resident here and for some years was employed as a traveling salesman. He was a member of the Jacksonville lodge of Elks and was active in work for the order. Many are the friends in Jacksonville who will extend the couple best wishes for a wedded life of many days and much happiness.

DEATH OF MRS. BYRNS.

Friends of Miss Margaret Byrns of the faculty of the State School for the Deaf have received news of the death of her mother, Mrs. Mary McMurphy Byrns, who passed away at the home of her daughter in Delta, Colo. Mrs. Byrns would have been seventy-four years old next October. She was the daughter of George McMurphy from Campbelltown, Argylshire, Scotland, and Rebecca Shannon of Fairmont county, Ohio. The deceased was married to James L. Byrns at the age of nineteen years and Mr. Byrns died twelve years subsequently. The funeral was held at Delta in charge of the Christian Science society, as Mrs. Byrns had been an ardent scientist and was a member of the mother church. Although an invalid for a number of years Mrs. Byrns maintained her cheerful spirit to the last.

DIAL FAMILY SURPRISED

During the social hour that followed the supper Mrs. Dial was presented with a silver spoon and Mr. Dial with a silk umbrella. Mr. Dial was formerly captain of the Murrayville drill team. The entire company found the evening one of great pleasure.

One of the most successful chicken frys of recent weeks was given by the Ladies Aid society of Liberty M. P. church Wednesday afternoon and evening on the lawn of Liberty school one-quarter mile south of Markham. Almost two hundred chickens were prepared and it is estimated that more than six hundred people were fed. Especially noteworthy was the systematic manner in which the crowds were handled. M. E. CONFERENCE NOW DOWN AT HARD WORK

BISHOP WILSON INSISTS ON EX-TRA BUSINESS SESSIONS

Detail of Work Means Adjournment
Will Not Come Until Monday Night
Conference Officers Chosen—Dr.
F. A. McCarty Has Excellent Report of Jacksonville District.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 6—A good fifty per cent of the 400 members of the conference answered to roll call, and later on each incoming train or interurban brought a delinquent or two.

With Rev. W. S. Phillips as chorister, Bishop Wilson of New York announced the patriotic song, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which the conference joined heartily in singing, after which the Bishop led in prayer. This however was unusual, but preliminary to the regular administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The unique sacramental service, with individual tables within the altar rail, where bread in trays and wine in individual cups, each partook at a signal from the Bishop of each, and were dismissed, to give place to others. Some of the older bishops have strenuously objected to this modern method, and had the absence of devotion, which usually characterizes such services, altho it was conducted without confusion. About 600 communicated at this service.

Officers Elected

A. B. Peck of Douglas Ave., M. E. church, Springfield, was unanimously elected recording secretary and C. M. Barton of Moweaqua, C. W. Hamand of Macon and R. N. Ennis of Hillsboro were named as assistants. Ernest Campbell of Latham was elected statistician, and named one from each of the eight districts, as assistants.

J. S. Smith of Mahomet was elected Treasurer, who also named eight assistants, one from each district. A special committee to arrange for conference order of addresses from visiting brethren was named consisting of F. B. Madden, C. Galeener and J. T. Wohlfarth.

Memorial Services

Dr. W. H. Wilder delivered a forceful and appreciative address after the call of the roll of the deceased members of the conference, the conference standing in silence while the secretary called the list. Some additional names were added to the list of deceased ministers, among them E. A. Wanless, a retired minister, and S. A. Ross, recently accidentally killed in Indiana.

Standing Committees

The standing committees were then announced and reports were received from the District Superintendents: B. F. Shipp for Bloomington; T. C. Note for Champaign; after which General Conference officers addressed the conference, namely, W. S. Bovard of Chicago for the Sunday School board; D. D. Forsyth of Philadelphia for Home Missions and church extension, and J. B. Hingeley of Chicago, secretary of the conference claimant's board; Dr. Soper of Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., also addressed the conference in the interest of that institution.

Additional Sessions

Bishop Wilson seems quite anxious to transact the minute business early in the week, therefore it was voted to have one hour and a half of business session three afternoons of this week, but even with all this extra time the conference is scheduled to service the conference is held up to and including Monday evening, Sept. 11.

PERSONALS

Patrons

In addition to the presence of Bishop Wilson, and as previously announced, residential Bishop Nicholson, and Bishop Oldham, the presence of Bishop Hamilton, recently retired from the Board of Bishops, is announced. He comes to represent the American University at Washington.

Quincy, Vermont street church, has made a complimentary offer, subject to the Bishops approval, to secure Rev. Merle English of Danville for the pastorate of that church.

Rumor has it that some prominent member of the conference will be moved for superintendency of Decatur District on account of the election of Dr. Van Cleve to the secretary of the Finance board. To fill the vacated place, the Bishop is likely to transfer some one into the conference. At present Dr. Van Cleve is very seriously ill with nervous prostration.

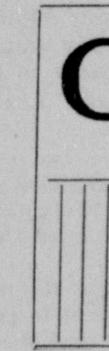

Many preachers' wives are in attendance and more are promised later on in the week. These are entertaining themselves or are the guests of friends.

Dr. F. A. McCarty's report of the Jacksonville district was as follows:

THE WORK OF THE REAPER

Again our parsons have been called upon to give up their treasures. On Nov. 28, little Martha Eleonor, the five year old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Artz, slipped away to be with God. It came as a sudden and crushing blow. Through it all Brother and Sister Artz had the most loyal sympathy of their people, and above all they found His Grace sufficient. On March 30, we laid to rest Mrs. Martha Dimmitt, the widow of Rev. J. H. Dimmitt, former

OLD JACKSONVILLE
 "The Illinoian"
 By Easley Moore.
 Member Illinois State Historical Society.

The first Whig paper published in Jacksonville was the "Western Observer," of which Jas. G. Edwards was editor and publisher. It began May, 1830. It ran into the "Illinoian Patriot," 1831-37, Edwards still being connected with it. Josiah M. Lucas took it over in 1837, and changed the name into "Illinoian," and from these the descent of the Journal is claimed.

A friend has lately sent a scrap of an "Illinoian" to the "O. J." man. The date of the paper is only to be judged by the dates of notices in it. It was first edited by A. H. Buckner and J. J. Hardin, and later (until 1843) by J. M. Lucas.

The scrap, a little less than three full columns, has the usual story of the day, contributed by a local artist, on the first page.

On the second page comes the conclusion of a review of an "Examination," as it was then called at the Academy, (J. F.) signed by "Peregrinus." The article seems to have been intended both as a boost for, and a criticism of, the ladies school. In concluding the writer said: "The compositions were three. In one I saw the glimmerings of a poetical and imaginative mind, and the promise of a poetess. In another I saw the signs of the cool, calculating and moralizing mind of a fine female moralist. And in the other I saw the sober, staid, and matronly housewife, character to be envied by either of the others. I enter my protest against one young lady reading all and neither one's being distinguished at all from the others." This course was afterwards pursued for awhile at the Anniversary Exercises of the "Young Ladies Athenaeum."

The Academy report is followed by an article on

Abolition

Quoted from the Frankfort, Ky., Commonwealth. This question was then being handled in careful style. There was an idea of paid emancipation, and many conservative people hoped to get rid of Slavery in that way. But it was not so to be, and instead of a moderate cost the nation paid billions of dollars and thousands of lives. This article is largely about action of the legislature of Kentucky and Henry Clay and Gen. Garrison as opposed to Van Buren, then candidate for reelection as President. From 1836 to 1852 Kentucky was a Whig state.

This quotation was followed by the story of a curious divorce application. Then

Election

"There will be an election for five trustees for the town of Jacksonville held on the first Monday in April next at the Court House in Jacksonville."

(Signed) E. T. Miller,
March 11, 1840. Prest. protom."

This is followed by the "Prospectus for the Third Volume of the Illinoian."

In part as follows:

More than two years have rolled past since we unfurled the broad banner of the Illinoian, and raised the battle ax of a free and unshackled press, against a corrupt and profligate administration. When we commenced the publication of this paper, two years since, Martin Van Buren had just come into power, but not like Gen. Jackson, who had strode into the highest station in the world on the affections and enthusiasms of a people grateful for his glorious military achievements. Van Buren did not succeed to the chair of Gen. Jackson by any merits or services of his own, but he crawled into his present station by professing an abject and synchopated devotion to the person and principles of his illustrious predecessor." Since he has occupied the Presidential chair, he has acted like the tyrant who feels conscious that he possesses no hold on the affections or respect of his countrymen, and has ruthlessly attempted by the aid of a drilled and subservient party in Congress to seize upon the public treasures and place them in the power of the Executive. When this shall have been accomplished, then the Army, the Navy, the immense patronage of the General Government in the appointment to civil offices and the whole purse and treasure of the nation will be under the control of the occupant of the White House at Washington. Let it never be forgotten by freemen, that when the conquest over the sword, the patronage, and the treasures of a nation, is placed in the hands of one man, that nation has ceased to be a Republic, and although it may call its highest officer a Consul, the Protector, or the President, yet it has nevertheless ingloriously deserted the ranks of free governments and ranged itself on the side and under the banner of monarchies.

This administration is not only grasping and corrupt, but it is also wasteful and extravagant. Witness the fact that in 1828 the ordinary expenditures of the government were $12,254,000, when in 1833 the expenditures were $40,000,000:

To thrust from office the politicians, who have fattened at the public crib, for years, at the expense of the people, becomes those who love their country and her institutions to put forth their mightiest energies. At several elections they have done so, and made the office holders at Washington to feel the stern rebuke of an indignant people. But these victories have been almost profitless in result, and the effect that radical change in government which the good of our country demands, it will require a constant and energetic effort during the ensuing summer and at the November election, to place the reins of Government in different hands.

It has heretofore been the aim of the Illinoian to hold up the administration of both the Federal and state government in their true colors. And in this, we think we may say without arrogance, "we have done the State some service."

In the ensuing canvass it is but reasonable to expect that every Whig will do something to advance the common cause, and in no way can this be done more effectively than by aiding in the dissemination of newspapers which sustain sound political principles. It is our intention to make the columns of the Illinoian the vehicle to afford its readers political and miscellaneous articles which will please, instruct and amuse, and we hope our Whig friends will use corresponding exertions to extend its circulation."

After this comes:

Under this heading, David B. Ayers, father of M. P. and A. E. Ayers, announces his agency in selling lands in Morgan, Cass, Scott, Greene, Macoupin, Sangamon, Logan, Menard, Macon and McLean counties, for John Grigg, Esq., of Philadelphia.

Bill for Foreclosure

Levi Harlan, clerk, makes this heading of a notice:

"State of Illinois, Scott county, ss: Murray McConnel, vs. Charles Collins and Adaline Collins, Michael Collins, Frederick Collins and the Farmers and Mechanics Insurance Company of St. Louis, in the Circuit Court of said county—Bill for Foreclosure."

The parties are bidden to appear before the court, "at Winchester, in said county, on the fourth Monday of May next," but the notice is not dated.

"Importance to Union"

Under this heading, then referring to dis-Union talk, no doubt was made the following extract, in part, from "Smith's Comparative View of Ancient History": "It will be thus observed that, with hardly a single exception, every nation or people which the Roman power subverted or destroyed, was first weakened by internal strife or dissension among its own members, and was thus rendered an easy prey to an encroaching ally, under the guise of friendship, or to an open enemy, in un-disguised hostility."

This extract, following the story on the first page, ends the various points noticed in the scrap of the Illinoian under consideration.

COL. FRANK SMITH'S CAMPAIGN MOVES ALONG SMOOTHLY

Candidate's Friends Claim that His Chances for Nomination Next Wednesday are Excellent.

Local friends of Colonel Frank Smith of Dwight, who has been an active candidate for Republican nomination for governor for more than a year past, declare their candidate has a splendid chance for success at the polls next Wednesday. Colonel Smith has made an active canvass of the state and his organization has been hard at work. J. S. Green, one of the local enthusiasts for Colonel Smith, has asked for the publication of the following, which appeared as an editorial in the Bloomington Pantagraph some weeks since and which has been used quite extensively by the Smith campaign committee in their publicity work:

It is nothing unusual to see the professional politicians of Chicago seeking to dictate to the people of Illinois in the matter of the governorship and other state officers. These unscrupulous time servers and job seekers from Cook County have been quite contemptuous of anything and anybody downstate that they brazenly assume to name their slates, apparently with the impression that docile Illinoisans outside of Cook County will fall into line and do their bidding.

The insufferable City Hall crowd of Chicago, headed by Fred Lundin and his assistant, Mayor William Hale Thompson, present to the people of Illinois, the name of Colonel Frank O. Lowden for governor. Another Cook County faction bossed by the political combination of Charles S. Deneen and Roy O. of late has been discredited and beaten at every stage, brings forward Morton D. Hull, of Chicago, as its candidate for governor.

The Pantagraph does not assume to criticise the personal characteristics of either Colonel Lowden or Mr. Hull. As far as this paper is aware both are estimable gentlemen who would make good executives if they were allowed to act on their own initiative. But neither should appeal to the voters of Illinois because of the company they are in at the present time. The one is clearly branded with the Lundin-Thompson iron while the other carries the Deneen-West tag.

The people of this state have an unusual opportunity in the present campaign to elect a man for governor who is of the true Hughes type.

The Republican candidate for president this year made his political reputation as governor of New York, where he fought and won against just such professional politicians as are now represented in Illinois by the Lundin-Thompson and Deneen-West combinations. It was Mr. Hughes' independence that won him popular approval, and it is that same quality of independence that promises to place Col. Frank L. Smith, of Dwight, in the governor's chair.

The professional politicians never had and have not now the slightest use for Charles E. Hughes. He never would and never will do their bidding. In the same way the professional politicians of Illinois have no use for Colonel Frank L. Smith. They know he is, above everything, his own man, and in the event of his election would do what he was elected to do.

M. E. CONFERENCE NOW DOWN AT HARD WORK

have not lost the glow of their high ideals, who feel profoundly the "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel," who are fitted to the task, and eager to do a man's work, these will find a most hearty welcome in any of our charges.

Looking Forward

As Father Time with ruthless precision turns the page of a new Conference year, we like a traveler who, after a long and toilsome climb up a mountain pass, reaches the crest, pauses to look backward over the long road ascended, and then looks forward over the bright prospects of the road beyond, so we review the climb and dusty toil of the year, and then look forward to the great challenge of the year that lies beyond. To be frank the forward look is the more inspiring, it is a greater joy to plan the coming conquest than to give details of the battle past, for no matter how successful, it falls so far short of our ideals, so many things were not done which we profoundly felt should be accomplished. Nevertheless, the past must be recorded as well as the future planned.

The thirty-seven Pastors appointed a year ago went bravely to their work, and for the most part have wrought faithfully. In March Brother Milton O. Beebe, Pastor at Roodhouse, received from the United States Government, the appointment as Chaplain of the Twelfth Cavalry, U. S. A., and in April was released from his charge by Bishop McDowell, and took up his new work. Roodhouse has been efficiently supplied by Dr. F. M. Rule, of the Minnesota Conference, whom we are delighted to have live within our borders.

While the Superintendent was attending the General Conference there came another break in our ranks, Brother R. C. Meyers, Pastor at Bluffs, received a cordial invitation to the Northwest Kansas Conference, and accepted with equal alacrity. In the meantime, Bluffs, upon their request, have been with Pastor. Otherwise the men have stuck to their jobs.

The Pastors and Laymen's meeting in Virginia for two days in October, was a great inspiration to the opening of the year's work.

Plans and methods were presented and discussed. Here the matter of financing the Commission on Conference Claimants was successfully launched.

Modern Travel Conveniences

The equipment with which a Preacher starts out to his work today is quite different from that of the Fathers who traveled all kinds of distances on horseback, their saddlebags containing both their wardrobe and library. The modern conveniences of travel and circuit work would drown out those pioneer evangelists. The Jacksonville District is equipped with twelve automobiles, thanks to Mr. Henry Ford, through whose generosity a Preacher on the Jacksonville District may purchase the leading touring car of the world for $300 F. O. B. Shades of Peter Cartwright! What would a sturdy hero of the saddlebags say to such innovations. However, Peter was not entirely blameless in the matter of introducing the new and the novel. He relates the instance of a Brother in the Illinois Conference who had a bill of charges presented against him, at our Conference Session, for wearing galluses. The writer says he was much disturbed in mind, because he, too, was wearing a pair of the offending articles at that time, and all the more so because he must room with Bishop McKendree, who was holding the Conference. He tells us that great relief came to him when he discovered that the Bishop was likewise guilty. No doubt, if the veteran Presiding Elder of fifty years were alive today, he would be in the forefront in making use of modern inventions.

The Work of Evangelism

The prime work of soulwinning has been kept to the front. The revivals were begun early, and there were times of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. The outstanding revival of the year was the meeting at Beardstown during the month of May. Evangelist Hugh Smith assisted the Pastor, and 180 were converted and the church greatly blessed.

Evangelist Towle did us good work at Carrollton, Palmyra and Grace Church, Jacksonville. Brother Towle has just finished a great meeting at Marca, with 60 conversions, and as many reclamations, and the spiritual atmosphere of the Church renewed. The revival at Waverly was held in a tent during the hottest part of July. Pastor Smith was assisted by Brother Stewart, of Iowa, a Pastor. The meeting lasted but two weeks, and had to close just as it was getting under way.

There were a number of conversions and a season of blessing. I am convinced that one weakness of our revival work is a temptation to put too little time and intensity into them. There are so many to hold on the circuits, and so much to be done in all the charges, that the revival does not have the chance it formerly had.

Building Work

The new Church at Concord was completed during the year, and dedicated Jan. 23, by Bishop Quayle. It is a beautiful brick Church, costing about $13,000. There is probably not a better planned Church of this size in the Conference. The Pastor W. P. Bowman did a masterly piece of work. Grigg Chapel on the Bluffs Spring Charge was entirely remodeled on the inside. The re-opening was July 16, Pastor Symond and his people are happy. Hebron Church on the Jacksonville Circuit is building a beautiful new church to cost about $8,000. The cornerstone was laid August 30. Dr. Harker assisted Pastor Davis and the Superintendent Other Churches which have made improvements, are—Manchester, Hettick, Lynville, and Wesley Chapel on W. Jacksonville Circuit. The parsonages are also receiving attention. Carrollton is erecting a beautiful new $4,000 house, modern throughout. Brother Boyd expects to move in before winter. Astoria circuit remodeled their parsonage. Other parsonages improved are—Ashland, Bath, Chesterfield, and Oakland. Franklin Circuit paid off the debt on theirs. The parsonage at Beardstown was accidentally flooded by someone leaving the faucets open all day while the family were away. This of course means redecorating and new floors.

Woman's College Progress
The Woman's College has had another remarkable year, as it always does. The great triumph of this year has been the completion of the campaign for $280,000 for buildings and endowment. Of this entire amount less than $45,000 yet remains unpaid. The last Commencement marked the seventieth anniversary of the College, and Alumnae, and old students were present in large numbers to swell the rejoicing. A very gratifying feature of the College situation is the increasing interest taken by the Alumnae. Less than seven years ago a movement was inaugurated to secure a scholarship fund of $5,000 for each of the seven presidents. Already $25,000 has been paid in, and the funds for Drs. Short and Harker are completed. Now another enterprise is on foot to endow a chair for Dr. Short, and Dr. Harker, and already several thousand dollars have been subscribed. A new wing to the main building, being an addition to the library is almost completed, and a new $40,000 gymnasium is under construction. The attendance has remained stationary for the past two or three years, on account of crowded conditions. If any friend of the College wishes the steady increase in attendance which was reported for twenty years, to continue, all he need to do is provide more buildings that new students may be accommodated.

Benevolence Records

Our District will report an increase in Benevolences and Membership, but the per-Conference reports are too meager to tell just how much.

DURBIN

Misses Winifred Darley and Katherine Kettle have returned to their respective homes in Waverly and Rushville. Miss Irene Oxley accompanied Miss Kettle home and will visit there a few days.

Thomas and Richard Oxley and families have returned from a two weeks' auto trip in Iowa. Miss Backus of Maxell, Iowa, accompanied them home.

Samuel Darley took a car load of hogs to St. Louis last week and received $11.35 per hundred.

The Jones Reunion was a decided success. Over a hundred were in attendance.

Mrs. Sargent visited her granddaughter, Mrs. Ernest Jones from Saturday until Monday.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS TO THE PASSAVANT HOSPITAL BUILDING FUND.

Payment on subscriptions to the Passavant Memorial Hospital building fund was due and payable Sept. 1, to F. E. Farrell, Treasurer, at Farrell & Co.'s bank.

Illinois System of Permanent Fertility

(By Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, University of Illinois)

If the Illinois system of maintaining soil fertility is founded upon truth, it will stand all fair and honest tests, and false attacks against it must ultimately fail. It must be remembered that the productive power of the soil is the basic support of all prosperity. All classes of people are interested in the food supply, and they have both the need and the right to know the truth about fertilizers.

Respect for truth is inherent in the human mind, and ultimately truth always wins against error. No enterprise supported by honest people can succeed permanently if it rests upon a false foundation. This is just as applicable to the fertilizer industry as to the banking business. Under the caption, "The Illinois Idea, by L. E. Stockard, Federal Chemical Co.", the following statement was made in Kentucky Farming, October, 1915:

"During the past fifteen years the farmers of Illinois have depended on phosphorus alone as a fertilizer."

It is inconceivable that any permanent benefit can come to anybody or to any interest, from this statement. Concerning Mr. Stockard, it is sufficient to say that he is mistaken. But concerning the statement itself, a quarter million Illinois farmers will agree that it is entirely false for it represents neither the past or present practice or teaching of Illinois.

"Five elements require careful consideration if lands are to be kept fertile. These are potassium, magnesium, calcium, phosphorus and nitrogen, and every landowner ought to be as well acquainted with these five elements as he is with his five nearest neighbors." This quotation is taken from Circular 167 of the University of Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station. It is in full harmony with the teaching of that institution during the past fifteen years and also in harmony with the general practice of soil improvement in Illinois.

The normal soils of Illinois actually contain from 25,000 to 45,000 lbs. of potassium per acre in the first 2-3 inches, corresponding to 2,000 lbs. of soil; while 200 pounds of the most common fertilizer would add less than 4 lbs. of potassium to an acre of land.

The Illinois system of permanent fertility does not provide for the purchase of potassium for normal soils, but it does provide for the liberation of abundance of potassium from the practically inexhaustible supply in the soil. This liberation is accomplished by the action of decaying organic matter plowed under in the form of farm manure or crop residues, including clover or other legumes.

Only where the soil is positively deficient in potassium susceptible of liberation need potassium be purchased in permanent systems of grain or livestock farming. Such are some sand soils and most peaty swamp lands. In market gardening and in some other special types of farming, commercial potassium may be required; and on some worn soils especially deficient in decaying organic matter temporary use of kainit often is advisable.

As a general average the normal soils of Illinois contain more than four times as much potassium as magnesium, while the loss by leaching and cropping in rational systems of grain farming or livestock farming may be greater for magnesium than for potassium, so that magnesium is more likely to become deficient in such soils than is potassium. The calcium supply in normal soil is also only one-fourth that of potassium, while the average loss by cropping and leaching is four times as great; so that 16 to 1 expresses the relative importance of calcium and potassium in the problem of permanent fertility on normal Illinois soils.

All limestone contains calcium, and the dolomitic limestone in the almost measureless deposits of Northern Illinois contains both calcium and magnesium in very suitable form both for plant food and for correcting or preventing soil acidity. In the Illinois system of permanent fertility ground natural limestone is applied where needed at the rate of about two tons per acre every four years.

Phosphorus can be purchased, delivered at the farmers' railroad station in Illinois for about three cents a pound in the form of fine ground natural rock phosphate; for 10 to 12 cents a pound in stamped bone meal, and for 12 to 16 cents a pound in acid phosphate or in basic slag phosphate.

Phosphorus can be used with profit in any of these forms, but the data thus far secured in comparative experiments indicate that, with equal amounts of money invested, the natural rock phosphate will give the greatest profit in rational permanent systems. At least 1,000 lbs. per acre every four years should be applied, and for the first application even two to three tons per acre is not too much phosphate for those who best understand the need and value of phosphorus on normal Illinois land. On soils deficient in decaying organic matter, we advise the use of bone meal, slag phosphate or acid phosphate, rather than rock phosphate.

Ration with such crops as corn, oats and clover depletes the soil of all important elements of fertility, and always results ultimately in land run on normal soils, unless some system of restoration is practiced.

These statistics for wheat and corn are summarized in the accompanying tabular statement, which is easily verified by reference to the Year Books of the Federal Department and to the State Board reports for August and December, 1914.

Bushels Per Acre of Illinois Wheat and Corn

(First data from U. S. Dept. of Agri.)

Average	Wheat	Corn.
24 years (1866-1889)	12.8	38.5
15 years (1890-1904)	13.2	32.2
10 years (1905-1914)	16.0	34.8
Total Increase	3.2	6.3
Second data from I. State Board of Agriculture
Average	Wheat	Corn.
24 years (1866-1889)	13.2	29.6
15 years (1890-1904)	13.9	33.5
10 years (1905-1914)	16.4	35.4
Total Increase	3.2	5.8

According to the statistics of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, the total average increases in acre-yield for the state of Ill. are 3.2 bu. of wheat and 6.3 bu. of corn, while the comparable averages for Indiana and Ohio are 3.15 bushels of wheat and 5.95 of corn. The latest Yearbook reports the total acreage of wheat and corn as 12,846,000 in Illinois and 13,059,000 in Indiana and Ohio combined; and the latest United States census report shows that the farmers of Indiana and Ohio paid out more than ten times as much money for commercial fertilizers (chiefly for limestone and phosphorus).

To increase or maintain the nitrogen and organic matter of the soil is the greatest practical problem in American agriculture. In an hour's time one can spread enough limestone or phosphate on an acre of land to provide for large crops of wheat, corn, oats and clover for ten or twenty years, while to supply the nitrogen for the same length of time would require from 20 to 40 tons of clover, or from 80 to 120 tons of farm manure, to be added to the same acre of land, even tho the one of the four crops harvested secures its nitrogen from the air.

To provide nitrogen in the Illinois system of permanent agriculture requires the use of common sense and positive knowledge, the same as with limestone and phosphorus.

For the live-stock farmer on our most common soil, I would suggest a five-field system, a four year rotation of corn, corn, oats and clover, being grown upon four fields for five years, while the fifth field is kept in alfalfa. If the straw and half the corn stalks for bedding and all other produce for feed, and if 60 per cent of the nitrogen in the manure is used for the production of crops, then a permanent system is provided for the maintenance of nitrogen.

For the farmer who sells grain and hay, wheat may well be substituted for the first corn crop, clover being seeded on the wheat to be plowed under the next year for corn. If only the grain and clover seed and alfalfa hay are sold, all clover, stalks, and straw being returned to the land, this also provides a system for the permanent maintenance of nitrogen.

While these systems are distinctly for live-stock farming or for grain and hay farming, they should be considered as only suggesting the basis for solving the nitrogen problem; and a combination of these systems in diversified farming will often be preferred to either one alone. This important point is that the land owner should know the essential facts and base his practice upon them in order to provide for permanent fertility.

These statements fairly represent the teaching of the University of Illinois and the practice of progressive farmers in this state.

In the article cited, Mr. Stockard compares average corn and wheat yields in different states for the ten years 1900-1909 and the four years 1910-1913, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture. He makes the following statement:

"With the use of complete fertilizer, Ohio and Indiana each secured an increase of 3.2 bushels in their corn yield, while Illinois, following the one-element idea has resulted in a decrease of one bushel per acre."

While Mr. Stockard may deceive himself, or the Federal Chemical Co. by this misuse of figures, he is not likely to deceive others, because the knowledge is common that the average yield of corn in the corn belt varies from less than 20 bu. in the poorest seasons to more than 40 bu. in the best seasons, and that the average wheat yield for a state also varies so greatly with seasonal conditions that a four year acreage is not trust worthy for deciding whether crop yields are increasing or decreasing. The fact is that one can "prove" almost anything by improper use of crop statistics. Thus, Mr. Stockard might have called attention to the fact that the average acre-yield of wheat in Ill. jumped from 8.3 bushels in 1912 to 18.7 in 1913; and there are two of the numbers out of which he constructs a four year average to show that "in Ill. the one-element idea has resulted in a decrease of one bushel per acre."

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

A Man Who Has Helped Many Republicans to Success Now Seeks Nomination for Congressman-at-Large—A Successful Lawyer and Noted Speaker.

Stephen H. Cummins, candidate for Congressman-at-Large, is Illinois' latest offering, and those who know Mr. Cummins are certain of his qualifications.

STEPHEN H. CUMMINS

Mr. Cummins was a candidate two years ago, but was defeated by a narrow margin, his total of votes surprising the "old line politicians."

His ability as a campaign orator has helped the Republican party to success in many campaigns and was one of the staunch supporters of Senator Sherman.

When the clouds began to gather he did not desert the Republican party, but stood firm and voted for President Taft. On account of his loyalty to the party he deserves the support of every true Republican.

A son of a Mexican soldier, he is a self-made man, has been in turn, a farmer's boy, a school teacher, newspaper reporter, cashier of a bank, assistant Attorney-General, a successful lawyer, and a loyal Republican from boyhood. He has been intimately acquainted with every governor and United States senator since the days of John A. Logan who by the way complimented Mr. Cummins for his part in the election of General Logan to the United States senate in his memorable contest in 1885.

Endorses full suffrage for women, and favors the Budget System of Appropriations, the abolishment of the "Pork Barrel," a Protective Tariff, Preparedness and the "Rural System of Credits" to aid the farmers.

His wide acquaintance and experience with public men and questions will make him an influential member of congress.

Mr. Cummins owns and operates two farms in Sangamon county and takes pride in his knowledge of the farmers' problems.

Suppose that tomorrow morning it was put up to you to solve the transportation problems of this country;

that you had to set the rates, fix the wages and determine the standards of service for the railroads of the United States—that you would set such standards of service as would reasonably supply public needs; that you would fix such rates as would enable the railroads to earn, over and above their expenses, enough to keep the property in first-class condition, as well as a reasonable return for their stockholders; that you would recognize the public's need of the railroads; the public's right to demand the best of service; and the public's duty to pay for what they get, as much as is reasonable and just.

We believe that in all your decisions you would be governed by standards of safety, efficiency and service.

And those, by the way, are standards that the railroads themselves are trying to fix.

POULTRY PRODUCTS RUN TO MILLIONS IN U. S.

PROF. W. A. LIPPINCOTT'S WORK CLOSELY RELATED TO BIG INDUSTRY.

Well Known Authority Predicts Big Packing Concerns Will Finance Central Incubating Plants—Manhattan School Does Much for Kansas Where Poultry Exports Annually Are More Than $15,000,000.

Professor W. A. Lippincott, head of the department of poultry husbandry at the school of agriculture at Manhattan, Kans., is here for a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lippincott, 1120 West College avenue. Mrs. Lippincott is here also and they will go in a few days to Madison, Wis., where Prof. Lippincott is to spend a year in research work, having secured leave of absence from the Kansas institution. Prof. Lippincott has come to be one of the best known poultry authorities in the United States and the department at the Kansas college is surpassed by not more than one such department—that at Cornell university, where the equipment is somewhat more extensive than at Manhattan. The annual returns from poultry products in this country are greater than for wheat.

Prof. Lippincott conducted his first important work at the Iowa college at Ames, Ia., and from that college went to Manhattan, where the poultry department, which had previously been operated in connection with the bureau of animal husbandry, was created a separate department and placed in his charge. Under his direction the work has developed in a large way and has been such as to attract the attention of other colleges and universities engaged in like work, in addition to those interested in the development of the poultry industry. A text book, "Poultry Production", is written by Prof. Lippincott, is now in use in thirty-five institutions in almost every state in the union and the second edition is recently from the press.

Important Educational Work
The work that Prof. Lippincott has done at Manhattan has been important in an educational way because an average of 500 students annually take courses in the poultry husbandry department. It has been important too, in the research and development work. No special effort has been made to bring forward any new breed of poultry, as fowls already known to the poultry world are considered satisfactory. In the Kansas school the White Leghorn is recommended to those farmers or poultry fanciers who wish to specialize on egg production. For poultry keepers who wish to grow fowls to market, some one of the Rocks, Rhode Island Reds or Orpingtons are recommended, as the birds grow to a much larger size. Experience, however, has shown that with Leghorns it is possible to obtain the greatest egg production and also that the fowls can be marketed if they are sold early as broilers. After that time it does not pay to feed Leghorns for marketing.

Interest Varies With Localities
The interest in the development of poultry departments in educational institutions varies with localities, just as the value of the industry varies. In New York, for example, the consumption of poultry is much greater than the production, while in Kansas the annual exports, meaning to points outside the state, amounts to $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year. In Kansas there are a number of big packing firms whose sole business is the purchase and packing of poultry and the industry is of vast importance to the state. In a number of the states the poultry work is developed as a sub-department of animal husbandry and the subject is not given the attention that is really justified.

Talking about the desirability of Leghorn chickens on the average farm, Prof. Lippincott said that farmers would have less difficulty with Leghorns if instead of trying to confine the fowls in yards they would follow the plan of fencing them out of gardens, house yards and barns, and thus allow them the greatest freedom. It has been found that the Leghorns will come back to the home roosts and nests if they are made more comfortable than elsewhere.

Community Incubators.

One feature of poultry production is now being introduced into the Kansas work with which eastern producers have had even larger experience and that is the community incubator. Prof. Lippincott believes the time will come speedily when this plan will be quite largely followed, so that there will be few individual poultrymen who attempt the use of incubators of their own, but instead arrangements will be made for one large incubator to serve the community. There are a number of such incubator enterprises in the country, some of them with a capacity of 30,000 eggs. The community incubator looks very much like any other incubator except for its mammoth size and it is in reality a number of smaller incubators "hitched together" and operated with a hot water system.

Mr. Lippincott believes also that it will not be many years until the poultry packers are operating these mammoth incubators themselves and selling young chicks to growers. He believes that this will be done as a business and economy method, for by hatching chicks in such large quantities the work can be done at the minimum of cost and the packers will be interested in the project because they will be able to secure the strain of fowls best suited to meet their conditions and wishes.

Special Research Work.

The University of Wisconsin at Madison does not have an especially extensive poultry department but there are opportunities for research work there under Dr. Cole.

This year Prof. Lippincott's investigations will be along genetic lines with experiments in breeding. He will also do some special work in embryology and psychology as related to the subject of his special investigation.

In addition to other things his department at the university is doing the extension work is important as bulletins are issued from time to time and inquiries received from farmers and poultry growers are given prompt and careful attention. The purpose of the department, just as of other departments at the school of agriculture, is to encourage the people of Kansas to the raising of more poultry, to securing the breeds best adapted to their special needs and to give any desired information with reference to the best methods of caring for poultry, together with suggestions for the most economical methods of feeding. It can be said that it is only within the last decade that farmers and others have come into an accurate knowledge of just what the poultry industry means to this country.

Statistics show that the total receipts from poultry products in this country are greater than from the entire wheat crop. It is also true that the poultry products are of greater value than the entire gold, silver, iron and copper products of the United States.

SCHOOL AT FRANKLIN BEGINNING SECOND YEAR IN NEW BUILDING

First Week of New Term Sees Increased Enrollment and Every Indication of Successful Year.

Fifty-five students have enrolled in Franklin high school and 136 are attending the grades. With this summer, 191 in all, the second year in the new building is opening with every omen of success. Two new courses have been added to the high school curriculum this year and equipment will be received in a short time for a domestic science room and for a class in agriculture. The present term is the second under the principalship of O. B. Mounce, and the increased attendance, together with the spirit and enthusiasm with which school is beginning, speak well for Mr. Mounce's ability as teacher and executive.

On the high school faculty are two new teachers, Miss Hazel Kinnear of Rushville has charge of the work in German, domestic science and history, as well as English above the freshman year. Miss Kinnear is a graduate of Illinois Woman's college and is rapidly justifying the excellent recommendations with which she came. Miss Julia A. Huff of Salem is instructor in Latin, English I, biology and agriculture. Miss Huff is an Illinois college graduate, and the fact that her record as a student was a high one, speaks well for her ability as teacher.

The freshman class of this year numbers twenty-five, two more than were entered last term. There are twenty-four tuition pupils enrolled.

The school building is being wired for electric lights, making it possible to hold literary society meetings and other evening events in the main auditorium. The scientific laboratory has been improved with $75 worth of new equipment and a sum of $50 has been spent on additions to the library. Fifteen pupils are enrolled in the agriculture class and fourteen in the class in domestic science.

The not possessing a football team, Franklin high school has been noted for the good quality of basket ball presented and the boys are expecting to begin practice at an early date. After the basket ball season come track activities and there is in the school much good material for this branch of athletics. Basket ball practice will be carried on in the Catholic social hall. Following are the Franklin school grade teachers:

Primary room—Miss One Perkins
Intermediate room—Miss Zella Stout.

Grammar room—Miss Grace Hill.
Advanced room—Miss Mary Long.
